COPY OF RESOLUTIONS.

The Womans Home Mission Conference in session assmebled at Northfield, July 20, 1910 offers the following resolutions.

1. Resolved that the Womans Home Missionary Conference express to the managers of the Northfield Conferences its appreciation of the many courteous services extended on all occasions by all their representatives.

2. Resolved that the Womans Home Missionary Conference gratefully recognize the unstinted endeavors of the officers including the efficient chairman of the program Committee and would voice its regret at the retirement of Mrs. Geo. Coleman for four years Chairman of this Conference.

3. Resolved that the Conference extends thanks to Miss Howard for her oversight of the literature, to Miss Hand for her inspiring conduct of the music and to Miss Fellows for her efforts in interesting the young women of the Conference.

4. Resolved that the Conference is grateful to those missionaries, speakers and leaders who furnished inspiration for its meetings and those who so kindly acted as substitutes on the program-- notably the presiding officer of this Conference Mrs. Willard Larkin.

5. Resolved that we present the sincere thanks of this Conference to the teacher of the Home Mission Study Class for her painstaking and extensive preparation for the work, and her vivid illumination and clear presentation of the theme. "Without money or price" she has met the full measure of the trust committed to her hands, and we desire to express to her our heartfelt pleasure and satisfaction.

Respectfully submitted,

Florence Fellows,

Eva Waid.

COPY OF GREETINGS RECEIVED.

July 27, 1910.

The Summer School for Womens' Foreign Missionary Societies appreciated the gracious courtesy of the Home Mission Conference in sending such a pleasant greeting, which was read at the beginning of our School-- and the Secretary was asked to convey our recognition of your kindness, to assure you of our interest in the work in which you are engaged and to wish you ever increasing joy and blessing therein.

On behalf of the women in session,

Yours very truly,

Olivia H. Lawrence,

Secretary.

A STATEMENT

FROM THE HOME MISSION

STUDY COURSE COM.

With the opening of a new seven-year cycle, the Committee on the Inter-denominational Home Mission Study Course deems it desirable to present certain points to the Secretaries and Editors of the several Boards of Women's Home Missionary societies, leaving to their judgment the presentation of the same to their respective constituencies.

We desire to make note of the fact that the new list of topics has been prepared, after much thought and many conferences by the joint Committees of the Young People's Missionary Movement and the Council of Women for Home Missions and both bodies present to their constituencies the following subjects.

1911-12 Advance in The Autilles--dealing with Cuba and Porto Rico--by Dr. H. B. Grose.

1912-13 The Church and Social and Industrial Betterment

Author to be announced.

Also in reference to the announcement of future topics, the following resolution is presented.

Resolved: That it is the sense of this committee, in view of the exigencies that often arise in connection with securing authors on given topics, that it is not best to announce the topics for more than a year in advance of their use.

(1) We wish to call attention to the fact that there are definite limits to distinctive Home Missionary topics. Ours is a land of the present, a work of the present, and we lack the historic past in its relation to the present and future that may be so widely utilized in the Study of Foreign Missions.

(2) The fields of our affiliated societies differ widely. One counts the building of parsonages as a part of its legitimate work. Another leaves the Orientals on the Pacific coast to its Foreign Mission Board and work among Negroes to a third organization. One or more societies have no work at all in Cuba or Alaska while others are strongly established there. One society counts work in Mexico as Home Mission work.

It follows from these two statements that

(a) It is necessary to diverge at times from the main-travelled road of Home Missionary labor (which takes a circular course and soons brings one back to his starting point) in order to explore certain important highways lying by its side and connected therewith by numberless cross paths.

(b) It is necessary for each of the affiliated societies to hold in abeyance, at times (so far as a limited period of study may require) some of its own special fields and needs, and to broaden its outlook and strengthen its courage and hope by learning how other organizations are helping to bring about the same ultimate aim---the winning of "America for Christ".

Facing these facts, but in this spirit and with this purpose the Committee enters upon a new period of planning and result, and begs to assure its constituents that its purpose and endeavor is to give fair presentation to all fields of Home Missionary work in which our societies are engaged, and to present no topic for our study that will not, directly or indirectly, build up that work.

Home Missions	Northfield 1911	Friday, July 21 through Thursday, July 27

THE Fifth Summer Conference of Women in the interest of Home Missions will be held in Northfield during seven days in July, beginning Friday evening, July 21st.

This Conference is held on the beautiful campus of Northfield Seminary, East Northfield, Mass., and is under the auspices of an Interdenominational Committee representing National Women's Home Mission Boards or Societies.

Its aim is to provide a place where all women desiring a deeper spiritual life and a clearer knowledge of how to best work for the spread of Christ's Kingdom in North America can spend part of their summer vacation.

What are the Plans for this Year's Conference?

A Mission Study Class in the new text book on the Conservation of American Ideals (by Ray Stannard Baker, Prof. E. A. Steiner, Prof. Rauschenbusch and others) taught by a most helpful leader.

An hour of Bible Study daily for the deepening of the spiritual life.

A half hour each morning for the discussion of Missionary Methods, led by Miss Sallie M. Protzman.

Rousing Missionary Addresses in the Auditorium in the evening.

Quiet Round Top Hour out under the trees in the silence of the sunset, for the deepening of the devotional life.

Short talks by live missionaries.

Afternoons free for rest, walks, drives or conversation.

A Conference Hour for young women.

Field Day Sports.

Rally the Forces

What do we want?—We want a large delegation of women from each city in the East, and at least one representative from each denomination in the smaller towns.

We want all young women who are interested in Missions in any form.

We want Sunday School teachers and leaders interested in the problem of the right teaching of Missions in the Sunday School.

We want all Home Mission workers who are in the East for their summer vacations.

How can this be accomplished?—Plan to come yourself and bring as many friends with you as possible.

Have the dates of the Conference and the plans given out in your church meetings.

Send to the headquarters of your own society (the addresses will be found on the back of folder) for copies of this folder and distribute them at the meetings of your Missionary Society.

Write for full particulars to:

Mrs. John S. Allen, 25 East 22nd Street, New York. Chairman.

Miss Mary L. Howard, 67 Collins Street, Hartford, Ct. Program Committee.

How to Reach Northfield Conference

Buy ticket to Northfield Mass., or South Vernon, Mass. The Conference Grounds are at East Northfield, Mass., which is the Post Office Address. A public stage connects with all trains. From New York take New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and change at Springfield for Boston and Maine Railroad for South Vernon. From Boston take Fitchburg Division of Boston & Maine Railroad and change at Millers Falls for Vermont Central Railroad for Northfield.
